Description

We are manufacturing anti-hangover drink which is new type of energy drink. The negative effects are caused by the relative inability (or in some cases the slowness) of the body to break down alcohol. The speed and effectiveness of the process depends on the state of the body during its consumption. The presence of certain proteins, vitamins, minerals, sugars and enzymes is inevitable to help the body optimally metabolize the substance. Excessive consumption of alcohol disturbs the delicate balance in our metabolic systems, making the process slower and less effective.
